Taxation (Livestock Valuation, Assets Expenditure, and Remedial Matters) Bill

Government Bill

Explanatory note

General policy statement
This bill proposes measures foreshadowed in Budget 2012, to broaden the tax base. The budget-related measures tighten the rules for deducting costs of assets that are used both privately by the person who has the asset, and also used to earn income. Holiday homes, boats, and aircraft are often used in this way. Also, following on from the changes to livestock valuation rules in Budget night legislation, there are further supporting provisions proposed. Several important GST-related changes are proposed. Among them, supplies by agents are better accounted for, and debts to the Crown from local authorities changing GST accounting basis will be spread over 72 months with no penalties or interest imposed. In addition, it is proposed that certain non-resident businesses may register for GST and claim input tax deductions for GST incurred on approximately the same basis as a resident registered person. Other substantive measures include changes to the time periods for claiming refunds under the Income Tax Act 2007, ensuring that expenditure on trees and plantings for erosion, shelter and water protection purposes is tax deductible, and clarification of the definition of dividend in relation to certain rights issues, premiums paid under bookbuild arrangements, and share splits by companies. Also, the removal of tax concessions for certain non-resident investment companies is proposed.

Several remedial and technical changes are proposed as well, including better aligning the primary sector amortisation rules with the general depreciation rules, eliminating tax treatment mismatches for certain foreign currency hedges, and fixing the tax treatment of MPs’ allowances.

Donee status is proposed for 3 organisations, namely The Hunger Project New Zealand, OneSight New Zealand, and Fund for Timor.

Livestock valuation

The specified livestock amendments proposed in this bill flesh out the Budget 2012 provision which provides the rule that elections to use the herd scheme are generally irrevocable, effective 18 August 2011.

The bill provides an exception to this irrevocability rule where a farmer changes to a fattening operation. In such a case, a farmer may make a one-off election to change, in the year that the last of the female breeding livestock is disposed of. This exception will also be effective from 18 August 2011.

Also, it is proposed to amend section EC 20 and repeal section EC 21 of the Income Tax 2007, with effect from 28 March 2012.

The section EC 20 rule about disposals and the cessation of farming is amended by providing that if the livestock are sold before 1 November of an income year, the herd values that were announced in May of the calendar year of the sale must be used to value the opening herd scheme livestock for taxation purposes. By default, if the sale is completed on or after 1 November of an income year, the normal opening herd scheme adjustment will be made. Section EC 21, which relates to disposals of livestock on a person’s death, is repealed and is effectively replaced by the associated person transfer rule, discussed immediately below.

It is proposed that, for associated person transfers of livestock, if a person (the transferor) is disposing of the livestock other than in the ordinary course of business, and they are using the herd scheme, then their herd scheme election and base herd scheme numbers will transfer to the associated person who acquires the livestock (the transferee). There is an exception for certain intergenerational transfers.

A herd scheme election and base herd scheme numbers may not transfer to a transferee if it is an intergenerational transfer in situations where the only association between the parties is because of their blood relationship. Other criteria have to be met, including that the transferor has to cease deriving income from the disposal of livestock and that the transferee makes a one-off election in the year of the transfer.

The associated person transfer rule and intergenerational exception will have effect from 28 March 2012, and may also apply on death and to matrimonial property transfers. Also, 2 sets of classes, for Friesian and Jersey dairy cattle, and Red and Wapiti deer will be combined, in schedule 17 of the Income Tax Act 2007. This will apply for the 2012–13 income year.

Apportionment of expenditure for certain assets

New rules are proposed to limit the amount of an income tax deduction that a person is allowed in relation to the use of certain assets, such as holiday homes, aircraft, and boats, which are used for both income-earning and private purposes. Generally, a person is allowed an income tax deduction for expenditure if it is incurred in deriving their income or in the course of carrying on a business. The private limitation, however, denies a deduction if the expenditure is private or domestic. These 2 rules are difficult to apply in relation to assets such as holiday homes.

For assets that are used partly for private purposes and partly to derive income, the new rules will determine whether an expense is explicitly allowed as a deduction and provide a method of apportioning that amount.

The proposed rules will apply to assets that are comprised of land or are valued over $50,000, and that are not used for at least 62 days in an income year. Motor vehicles are excluded from the rules, as are assets whose expenditure is apportioned on an area basis.

A person will be allowed a full deduction for certain expenditure directly related to income-earning use of an asset, and an apportioned amount for other expenditure, other than purely private expenditure. Depreciation loss and GST input tax deductions will be calculated along similar lines. Some losses arising in relation to these assets will be ring-fenced.

Under the proposed rules, private use of an asset is any use of the asset by the person or a relative, whether or not rent is paid. Relative is defined for the purposes of the new rules.

Some modifications are proposed when it is impossible to attribute income separately to the use of an asset. Any losses that the person has are not ring-fenced unless the income derived from the use of the asset is substantially rental income.

If the income that a person derives from the use of the asset is less than $1,000 for an income year, or if they have a loss, they may choose to treat the income relating to the use of the asset as exempt income in relation to which no deduction is allowed.

Primary sector businesses

The Income Tax Act 2007 allows primary sector businesses (farming, horticulture, forestry, and aquaculture) to amortise the costs of certain capital expenditure that are not expressly depreciable. This amortisation is similar to taxpayers’ entitlement to claim depreciation on fixed assets. Two minor amendments are proposed, to better align the amortisation rules for primary sector businesses more closely with the general rules on depreciation in the Income Tax Act 2007.

The bill proposes the removal of the remnants of depreciation loading for primary sector assets.

The bill also ensures the tax deductibility of expenditure on trees and plantings for erosion, shelter, and water protection purposes.
Fair dividend rate foreign currency hedges

At present, there is a mismatch in the income tax treatment for a person who enters into a foreign currency hedge in relation to certain offshore assets. Generally, the mismatch arises for assets that are taxed under the fair dividend rate (FDR) regime and for some ASX-listed shares, because the tax treatment of those assets is different from the current tax treatment of foreign currency hedges made in relation to them. This mismatch makes it more difficult to effectively hedge investments in those assets.

The bill proposes rules designed to eliminate the tax mismatch as much as possible. The rules are optional, and allow eligible taxpayers to apply FDR to their foreign currency hedges, rather than apply the financial arrangement rules. The rules are restricted to hedging those offshore assets for which the tax mismatch would normally arise.

Clarification of dividend definition

The dividend definition is being clarified to ensure that certain transactions are not dividends for tax purposes. From a policy perspective, transactions like rights issues, premiums paid under bookbuild arrangements, and share splits should not be treated as a taxable dividend because the company does not give up anything of value.

Refund request time period

The bill proposes a reduction in the time period allowed to some taxpayers for requesting a refund under the Income Tax Act 2007. The current period is generally 4 years from the year of assessment. An extra 4 years is allowed, for taxpayers other than those who receive personal tax summaries, if the overpayment resulted from a clear mistake or simple oversight. The proposal is to remove the extra 4 years from the period so that the same time is allowed for all taxpayers. The change would align the period in which a taxpayer must apply for a refund with the 4-year period in which the Commissioner must amend an assessment. It would result in taxpayers being treated equally for refund purposes.

Consistent with this amendment to the Income Tax Act 2007, the time period for requesting refunds of donations tax credits is being limited to 4 years from the relevant year.
Expenditure for a building’s commercial fit-out
The bill proposes an amendment to the Income Tax Act 2007 to ensure that expenditure on a building’s commercial fit-out is only immediately deductible if the capital / revenue boundary would allow the deduction ignoring the expenditure’s relationship to the building. If the expenditure is not immediately deductible, it may be capitalised and depreciated over the fit-out’s useful life.

Tax concessions for certain non-resident investment companies
The bill proposes the repeal of residual income tax concessions for certain non-resident companies investing in projects specified in 4 Orders in Council. The concessions have outlived their original purpose.

MPs’ allowances
Minor technical changes are proposed, to correct an unintended anomaly following the rewrite of the Income Tax Act 1994. The changes apply from 1 April 2005, to restore the rules to the original position, and ensure that only the private element of payments and services provided to members of Parliament is taxed. Without the change, the full amount of payments and services to MPs, to carry out their Parliamentary duties, would be taxed.

Donee status
Donee status is proposed for 3 organisations, namely The Hunger Project New Zealand, OneSight New Zealand, and Fund for Timor.

GST issues
Cross border business to business neutrality
Under existing GST rules, a non-resident business that buys goods or services can incur a GST cost that would not be incurred by a resident business buying the same goods or services. Amendments are proposed to allow certain non-resident businesses to register for GST and claim input tax deductions for GST incurred on approximately the same basis as a resident registered person.
Deductibility of cash prizes
When the Gambling Act 2003 was enacted, consequential amendments were made to the Goods and Services Tax Act 1985. However, the changes had the unintended result of narrowing the range of circumstances in which cash prizes are able to be deducted when calculating the consideration for a supply. Amendments are proposed to restore the legislation in line with the original policy, and to slightly widen the range of circumstances in which cash prizes can be deducted.

Supplies by agents
An agent may make a supply to a recipient on behalf of a principal, and, for the purposes of the Goods and Services Tax Act 1985, the supply is treated as made by the principal with 1 invoice issued for the supply. In practice, however, some accounting systems automatically issue a tax invoice when goods or services are provided to another party, causing 2 invoices to be issued in an agency situation for what is in effect a single supply. The bill proposes to enable principals and agents to agree to treat the principal’s provision of the goods and services to the agent and the agent’s supply to the customer as separate supplies for GST purposes so allowing 2 tax invoices to be issued. Other changes include limiting the use of the bad debt rules when principals and agents use this new invoicing procedure.

Local authorities’ change of accounting basis
In 2001, a temporary exemption was provided for certain local authorities from a requirement to change to the invoice accounting basis. The exemption expires on 30 June 2013. Eight local authorities are still to make the change but they have large rates debts on which output tax will be payable once the change is made. An amendment proposes the payment of the debt by instalment spread over 72 months with no penalties or interest imposed.

Record keeping
Changes are proposed to GST taxpayer record-keeping requirements so that they align with proposed Tax Administration Act 1994 requirements that allow flexibility in keeping records overseas.
KiwiSaver

This bill proposes an amendment to the definition of salary and wages in the KiwiSaver Act 2006 to exclude Voluntary Bonding Scheme payments from the KiwiSaver deduction regime. Voluntary Bonding Scheme payments are made under the auspices of the Ministry for Primary Industries, the Ministry of Health, and the Ministry of Education, to encourage graduates in veterinarian science, medicine, midwifery, nursing, and teaching to work in hard-to-staff specialities and geographical locations within New Zealand.

As a separate remedial matter, a cross-reference in section 4 of the KiwiSaver Act 2006 is corrected.

Remedial matters

The bill proposes various remedial amendments to various Revenue Acts, and to other Acts, consequentially. They are mainly of a technical nature. The more significant are:

- ensuring that the current outstanding claims reserve provisions do not apply to general insurance policies with risk periods straddling 1 July 1993:
- ensuring that transitional imputation penalty tax does not apply earlier than it should:
- correcting a drafting mistake, to ensure that certain livestock valuation elections are in writing:
- correcting cross-references in the calculation of net family scheme income for the minimum family tax credit:
- correcting a drafting mistake in the CFC tax credit rules for foreign tax paid by a foreign company:
- amending the AIL rules to re-instate a DTA-related rule mistakenly removed:
- correcting and rationalising cross-references for the income tax exemption of parts of overseas benefits:
- amending the Schedule of the Search and Surveillance Act 2012 and the Tax Administration Act 1994, to ensure that the Inland Revenue’s search and seizure powers are appropriate and harmonised between the 2 Acts.

Clause 107 amends section OB 1 to replace the definition of bonus issue as part of ensuring that a share split involving the subdivision of shares does not constitute a dividend.

Amendment to Social Security Act 1964

Clause 108 amends section 70(4) of the Social Security Act 1964 consequentially, as part of correcting and rationalising cross-references for the income tax exemption of parts of overseas benefits.

Non-resident investment companies Orders in Council

Clause 109 revokes 4 Orders in Council, consequential to the repeal of sections LZ 2 to LZ 5 of the Income Tax Act 2007 which relate to credits for certain non-resident investment companies.

Amendment to Search and Surveillance Act 2012

Clause 110 amends the Schedule of the Search and Surveillance Act 2012, consequential to ensuring that the Inland Revenue’s search and seizure powers are appropriate and harmonise with that Act.

(3) In section DB 64, in the list of defined terms, insert “capital contribution property” and “expenditure”.

(4) Subsections (1) to (3) apply for the 2011–12 and later income years.

19 New subpart DG inserted (Expenditure related to use of certain assets)

(1) After section DF 5, insert:

“Subpart DG—Expenditure related to use of certain assets

“Introductory provisions

“DG 1 What this subpart does

This subpart sets out the rules for the deductibility and apportionment of expenditure incurred for an income year in relation to an asset when the asset is used partly for the purpose of deriving income and partly for private purposes, and for a time during the income year, the asset is not in use.

“Defined in this Act: asset, deduction, income, income year

“DG 2 Application of this subpart

“Asset by asset

“(1) The rules in this subpart apply on an asset by asset basis.

“Relationship with sections DB 5, DB 7, and DB 8

“(2) The rules in this subpart override sections DB 5, DB 7, and DB 8 (which relate to deductions for interest expenditure) in relation to interest expenditure that is required to be apportioned under section DG 9.
“Relationship with subpart DD

“(3) Subpart DD (Entertainment expenditure) does not apply to expenditure incurred in relation to an asset to which this subpart applies.

“Application to companies

“(4) The rules in this subpart do not apply to a company other than a close company and, for the purposes of this subpart, a reference in the definition of close company to a natural person is treated as a reference to a person.

“Application to groups of, and interests in, companies

“(5) For the purposes of this subpart,—

“(a) a group of companies is treated as a wholly-owned group of companies:

“(b) a voting interest in a company includes a market value interest when a market value circumstance exists for the company.

Defined in this Act: asset, close company, company, deduction, group of companies, interest expenditure, market value circumstance, market value interest, voting interest, wholly-owned group of companies

“DG 3 Meaning of asset for this subpart

“Meaning of asset

“(1) For the purposes of this subpart, an asset, for a person and an income year, means an item of property—

“(a) that a person uses partly for deriving income and partly for private use; and

“(b) that—

“(i) is comprised of land, including improvements to land;

“(ii) has a cost to the person, of $50,000 or more; and

“(c) that is not in use—

“(i) for at least 62 days in the income year; or

“(ii) when the asset is typically used only on working days, for at least 62 working days in the income year.

“Exclusions

“(2) Despite subsection (1), an asset for the purposes of this subpart does not include—
“(a) a motor vehicle:
“(b) an asset whose expenditure, or a part of it, is apportioned for tax purposes on the basis of space, floor area, or another similar basis.

“What constitutes use

“(3) For the purposes of this subpart, the use of an asset is the active use of the asset for its intended purpose.

“Cost of asset

“(4) In subsection (1)(b)(ii), sections DG 11(8)(a)(ii) and DG 16(1)(b)(ii), for an asset to which this subpart applies, the cost of the asset means the cost of the asset to the person, entity, partnership, limited partnership, or joint venture, excluding expenditure for which they are allowed a deduction under a provision of this Act outside this subpart, other than an amount of depreciation loss.

“Defined in this Act: amount, asset, cost, deduction, depreciation loss, income, income year, land, limited partnership, partnership, private use, tax, working day

“DG 4 Meaning of private use for this subpart

“What is private use?

“(1) For the purposes of this subpart, private use, for an asset and a person, means the use of the asset by the person or a person associated with them, regardless of whether the use is exclusive, or whether the person derives an amount of income in relation to the use.

“Private use when return below market value

“(2) If the income derived by the person from the use of the asset is an amount that is less than the market value amount, the use is treated as private use. For the purposes of this subpart, market value means the price at which the asset is provided for use at a particular time or for a particular season—

“(a) in the open market; and “(b) freely offered; and “(c) made on ordinary terms; and “(d) to a member of the public at arm’s length.
“Exclusion from private use

“(3) Despite subsection (1), the use of an asset by a person does not amount to private use if—

“(a) the asset is the kind of asset that requires expert or specialist knowledge in order for it to be used; and

“(b) the person has the required expert or specialist knowledge; and

“(c) the income derived directly or indirectly from the use of the asset is a market value amount; and “(d) the amount derived includes an amount paid for the services of the person.

“Associated persons

“(4) In subsection (3), a person includes a person associated with them.

Example

Mary uses her yacht privately, rents it to her brother at market value, rents it to unrelated people at market value, and occasionally rents it at less than market value to friends. The use of the yacht by Mary, her brother, and her friends is regarded as private use. When the yacht is rented at market value to unrelated people, the use is not regarded as private use. And despite the market rent paid by her brother, his use of the yacht remains private use.

*Defined in this Act: amount, asset, associated person, income, market value, pay, private use

“DG 5 Meaning of interest expenditure for this subpart

“Interest expenditure

“(1) In this subpart, interest expenditure, for a person to whom this subpart applies, means expenditure on interest, and includes an amount of interest on the sum of the outstanding balances of—

“(a) financial arrangements entered into by the person, if the financial arrangement—

“(i) provides funds to the person; and “(ii) gives rise to an amount for which the person would have a deduction:

“(b) fixed-rate foreign equity or fixed-rate shares that are—
Taxation (Livestock Valuation, Assets Expenditure, and Remedial Matters) Bill § Part 1 cl 19

“(i) issued by the person; and
“(ii) held by a person resident in New Zealand:
“(c) stapled debt securities—
“(i) issued by the person; and “(ii) held by a resident in New Zealand; and “(iii) stapled to shares other than shares of a company that is a proportional-stapling company.

“Exchange rate fluctuations
“(2) Subsection (1) does not include a deduction for an amount that arises only from movement in currency exchange rates.

“Defined in this Act: amount, company, deduction, financial arrangement, fixed-rate foreign equity, fixed-rate share, interest, interest expenditure, proportional-stapling company, resident in New Zealand, share, stapled debt security

“DG 6 Associated persons: company rule modified Despite section YB 3(1) (Company and person other than company), for the purposes of this subpart, a company and a person other than a company are associated persons if—“(a) the person has a voting interest in the company of 5% or more; or “(b) the person’s share in the company gives them a right to use the asset.

“Defined in this Act: asset, associated person, company, share, voting interest

“When assets held simply “DG 7 Expenditure related to income-earning use “Expenditure on certain business and regulatory requirements
“(1) A person is allowed a deduction for expenditure or loss, including an amount of depreciation loss, to the extent to which the amount incurred—
“(a) relates solely to the use of an asset for deriving income of the person; and “(b) is expenditure—
“(i) from which the person would not reasonably expect to receive a personal benefit:
“(ii) that the person must reasonably incur to meet a regulatory requirement so that they may use the asset for deriving income and that would not have been incurred but for the requirement.

"Expenditure that must be apportioned"

“(2) Despite subsection (1) and for the avoidance of doubt, all expenditure on repairs and maintenance incurred in relation to an asset must be treated as expenditure that is limited under section DG 8.

Example

Mike operates a charter boat which he also uses privately. He incurs expenses including advertising costs, costs in meeting Maritime New Zealand survey requirements, and general maintenance costs. The advertising costs are fully deductible because they deliver no private benefit. The survey costs are fully deductible if they are incurred only for charter purposes. The maintenance costs are not deductible under this provision because they deliver a personal benefit as well as an income-earning benefit. A portion of these maintenance costs may be allowed as a deduction under section DG 8.

“Defined in this Act: amount, asset, deduction, depreciation loss, income

“DG 8 Expenditure limitation rule

“What this section applies to"

“(1) This section applies to an amount of expenditure or loss, including an amount of depreciation loss, that a person incurs for an income year in relation to an asset.

“Limited deduction"

“(2) The person is allowed a deduction for the income year to the extent of the amount calculated using the formula in section DG 9(2).

“Treatment of interest expenditure"

“(3) For the purposes of subsection (2) and the apportionment formula,—

“(a) if the person is not a company, interest expenditure incurred in relation to the asset is included in the item expenditure in section DG 9(3)(a):

“(b) if the person is a company, interest expenditure incurred in relation to the asset is apportioned under section DG 11.
“Depreciation recovery and loss on disposal

“(4) In the treatment of assets generally,—
“(a) depreciation recovery income on disposal is dealt with in section EE 49 (Amount of depreciation recovery income when item partly used for business):
“(b) depreciation loss on disposal is dealt with in sections EE 44 to EE 48, and EE 50(6) and (7) (which relate to amounts of depreciation loss).

“Relationship with other sections

“(5) This section—
“(a) supplements the general permission and overrides the private limitation, but the other limitations still apply:
“(b) overrides section EE 50(2) (Amount of depreciation loss when item partly used to produce income).

Example

Jim rents out his aeroplane at market value for 100 hours in an income year, and uses it for his personal enjoyment for 50 hours. Jim incurs general expenditure of $10,000 in relation to the use of the plane. He may deduct two thirds of the expenditure (section DG 9(2)). The formula is $10,000 × (100/(100 + 50)) = $6,666.67.

*Defined in this Act: amount, asset, business, company, deduction, depreciation loss, depreciation recovery income, general permission, interest expenditure, private limitation

“DG 9 Apportionment formula

“What this section does

“(1) This section provides the formula for use in sections DG 8 and DG 11 to DG 13 to calculate the way in which an amount of expenditure or loss is apportioned in relation to the income-earning use and private use of an asset.

“Formula

“(2) The apportionment formula is—

\text{expenditure} \times \frac{\text{income-earning days}}{\text{(income-earning days + private days)}}.
“Definition of items in formula

“(3) In the formula,—

“(a) expenditure is the total expenditure or loss that is incurred by the person for an income year in relation to the asset, and that would be deductible in the absence of this subpart, other than expenditure that is—

“(i) related solely to the income-earning use of the asset as described in section DG 7; or “(ii) related solely to the private use of the asset:

“(b) income-earning days is the total number of days in the income year for which the person derives income from the use of the asset when the amount of income de-erived is an amount that is equal to or more than the market value amount, including any days on which the use made of the asset is use described in section DG 4(3):

“(c) private days is the total number of days in the income year on which the asset is in active use, and the day is not an income-earning day as described in paragraph (b).

“Other units of measurement

“(4) A unit of measurement of time other than days, whether relating to hours, or nights, or anything else, is to be used in the formula and in subsection (3)(b) and (c), if it achieves a more appropriate apportionment. For this purpose, the same unit must be used in relation to both items in subsection (3)(b) and (c).

“Defined in this Act: amount, asset, deduction, income, income year, market value, private use

“When assets held in complex structures

“DG 10 Interest expenditure rules

Sections DG 11 to DG 14 provide for the apportionment of interest expenditure incurred by a company that holds an asset to which this subpart applies, and by other companies that are in the same group of companies as the company, and by shareholders. Companies must provide information disclosure statements under section 30D of the Tax Administration Act 1994 to enable the calculations to be made.

*Defined in this Act: asset, company, group of companies, interest expenditure, shareholder

"DG 11 Interest expenditure: close companies"

"What this section does"

“(1) This section quantifies the amount of a deduction that a close company is allowed for an income year when—

“(a) the company holds an asset to which this subpart applies; and “(b) the company incurs interest expenditure for the income year.

"Determining values and deductions"

“(2) The company must first determine the amount of its debt value and its asset value for the income year, and then apply either subsection (3) or subsections (4) to (6).

"Debt value less than asset value"

“(3) If the debt value for the income year is equal to or less than the asset value for the income year, the company is allowed a deduction of a portion of interest expenditure incurred for the income year—

“(a) of an amount calculated using the formula in section DG 9(2); and

“(b) treating the company’s total interest expenditure for the income year as if it were the item expenditure in the formula.

"Debt value more than asset value"

“(4) If the debt value for the income year is more than the asset value for the income year, the company must calculate a reduced amount of interest expenditure for the income year using the formula—

\text{interest expenditure} \times \frac{\text{company’s asset value}}{\text{company’s debt value}}
\]

"Definition of items in formula"

“(5) In the formula,—
Part 1 cl 19

Taxation (Livestock Valuation, Assets Expenditure, and Remedial Matters) Bill

“(a) interest expenditure is the total amount of interest expenditure incurred by the company for the income year:

“(b) company’s asset value is the amount of the company’s asset value for the income year:

“(c) company’s debt value is the amount of the company’s debt value for the income year.

Apportionment of reduced amounts

“(6) The company is allowed a deduction for the income year of a portion of the reduced amount described in subsection (4),—

“(a) of an amount calculated using the formula in section DG 9(2); and

“(b) treating the reduced amount as if it were the item expenditure in the formula.

Net asset balance

“(7) When subsection (3) applies for an income year, the amount that remains outstanding after subtracting the debt value for the income year from the asset value for the income year (the net asset balance), must be used under sections DG 12 to DG 14, as applicable.

Meaning of debt value and asset value

“(8) For the purposes of this subpart,—

“(a) asset value means the value of the asset at the end of an income year, using—

“(i) for land, including an improvement to land, the amount given by the later of either its most recent rating or its cost on acquisition (or its market value, if the transaction involves an associated person):

“(ii) for other property, its cost to the person:

“(b) debt value means the average outstanding amount that gives rise to the interest payable by the company, measured by reference to the amounts outstanding at the start of and at the end of an income year.

Example

Holiday Home Ltd holds a holiday home with a rateable value of $200,000. The company has debt of $40,000, with associated interest expenditure of $4,000. Since the debt value is less than the asset value, all the interest expenditure must be apportioned (section DG 11(3)).

Boat Ltd has a charter boat that costs $60,000. The company has debt of $100,000, with associated interest expenditure of $10,000. Since the debt value is more than the asset value, the company must apportion interest expenditure of $6,000 (section DG 11(4)–(6)). The formula is $10,000 ×
($60,000/$100,000) = $6,000.

“DG 12 Interest expenditure: group companies

“When this section applies

“(1) This section applies for an income year when—
“(a) a close company (company A) has a net asset balance;
and
“(b) company A is a member of the same group of compa(nies as another company (company B); and “(c) company B has interest expenditure for which it is allowed a deduction.

“How this section applies: looping rule

“(2) This section applies sequentially to every group company B until—
“(a) the net asset balance for the income year is reduced to zero, or is treated as reduced to zero; or “(b) no other group companies exist to which this section applies.

“Debt value less than net asset balance

“(3) If company B’s debt value for the income year is equal to or less than the net asset balance for the income year, company B is allowed a deduction of a portion of interest expenditure incurred for the income year,—
“(a) of an amount calculated using the formula in section
DG 9(2); and
“(b) treating company B’s total interest expenditure for the income year as if it were the item expenditure in the formula.

“Recalculation of net asset balance

“(4) In the application of subsection (3), the amount of the net asset balance must be recalculated on each application, being reduced by an amount equal to each counted group company’s debt value.

“Debt value more than net asset balance

“(5) If company B’s debt value for the income year is more than the net asset balance for the income year, company B must calculate a reduced amount of interest expenditure for the income year using the formula—

\text{interest expenditure} \times \frac{\text{net asset balance}}{\text{company B’s debt value}}.
\]

“Definition of items in formula

“(6) In the formula,—

“(a) interest expenditure is the total amount of interest expenditure incurred by company B for the income year:

“(b) net asset balance is the amount of the net asset balance for the income year:

“(c) company B’s debt value is the amount of company B’s debt value for the income year.

“Apportionment of reduced amounts

“(7) Company B is allowed a deduction for the income year of a portion of the reduced amount described in subsection (5),—

“(a) of an amount calculated using the formula in section DG 9(2); and

“(b) treating the reduced amount as if it were the item expenditure in the formula.

“Net asset balance zero

“(8) Once a calculation is made under subsection (5), company B’s net asset balance is treated as zero.
“Net asset balance

“(9) If a net asset balance remains outstanding after the application of this section for an income year, the amount must be used under sections DG 13 and DG 14, as applicable.

Example

Holiday Home Ltd has an asset balance of $160,000 ($200,000 less $40,000) and is wholly owned by Parent Ltd. Parent has debt of $30,000, with associated interest expenditure of $3,000. Since Parent’s debt value is less than the net asset balance, all of Parent’s interest expenditure must be apportioned (section DG 12(3)).

“DG 13 Interest expenditure: corporate shareholders

“When this section applies

“(1) This section applies when—

“(a) a net asset balance remains outstanding for an income year after the application of—

“(i) first, section DG 12, if applicable; or

“(ii) secondly, section DG 11; and

“(b) 1 or more of the following companies, none of which is a member of a group of companies that includes company A, exists:

“(i) a company that is a shareholder in company A:

“(ii) a company that is a shareholder in a company that is a member of the same group of companies as company A and has a voting interest in company A:

“(iii) a company that has a voting interest in a company referred to in subparagraph (i) or (ii).

“How this section applies: looping rule

“(2) This section applies sequentially as follows:

“(a) first, to the companies referred to in subsection (1)(b)(i) and (ii); and

“(b) secondly, to the extent to which the debt value of the company for the income year remains less than the company’s share of the net asset balance, to the companies that are shareholders in a company referred to in paragraph (a); and “(c) so on, until either—

“(i) the company’s share of the net asset balance for the income year is reduced to zero or is treated as reduced to zero; or “(ii) no other corporate shareholders exist to which this section applies.

“Limitation by share in asset balance

“(3) The deduction that the company is allowed for interest expenditure incurred for the income year is limited by their share of the asset balance. The share of the asset balance is calculated using the formula—

\[ \text{net asset balance} \times \text{company’s interest} \]

“Definition of items in formula

“(4) In the formula in subsection (3),—

“(a) \text{net asset balance} is the amount of the net asset balance after the application of section DG 11 or DG 12, as applicable, and as recalculated under subsection (6);

“(b) \text{company’s interest} is the relevant voting interest in company A, expressed as a percentage.

“Debt value less than asset balance

“(5) If the debt value for the company for the income year is equal to or less than its share of the net asset balance for the income year, the company is allowed a deduction of a portion of interest expenditure incurred for the income year,—

“(a) of an amount calculated using the formula in section DG 9(2); and

“(b) treating the total interest expenditure for the income year as if it were the item \text{expenditure} in the formula.

“Recalculation of asset balance

“(6) In the application of subsection (5), the amount that is the company’s share of the net asset balance must be recalculated on each application, being reduced by an amount equal to each counted company’s debt value.
“Debt value more than asset balance
“(7) If the debt value for the company for the income year is more than its share of the net asset balance, the company must calculate a reduced amount of interest expenditure incurred for the income year using the formula—interest expenditure \times \frac{\text{company’s share of net asset balance}}{\text{company’s debt value}}.

“Definition of items in formula
“(8) In the formula in subsection (7),—
“(a) interest expenditure is the total amount of interest expenditure incurred by the company for the income year:
“(b) company’s share of net asset balance is the amount calculated for the company under subsection (3):
“(c) company’s debt value is the amount of the debt value of the company for the income year.

“Apportionment of reduced amounts
“(9) The company is allowed a deduction for the income year of a portion of the reduced amount described in subsection (7),—
“(a) of an amount calculated using the formula in section DG 9(2); and
“(b) treating the reduced amount as if it were the item expenditure in the formula.

“Net asset balance zero
“(10) Once a calculation is made under subsection (7), the amount that is the company’s share of the net asset balance is treated as zero.

“Net asset balance
“(11) If a net asset balance remains outstanding after the application of this section for an income year, the amount must be used under section DG 14.

Example
Parent Ltd has 2 equal corporate shareholders, company Y, which has debt of $20,000 with associated interest expenditure of $2,000, and company Z, which has debt of $70,000 with associated interest expenditure of $7,000. Each company’s share of the net asset balance is $65,000 ($130,000 \times 50%).
Example—continued

Since company Y’s debt value is less than its share of the net asset balance, all of its interest expenditure must be apportioned (section DG 13(5)). Company Z’s debt value is greater than its share of the net asset balance, so it must apportion interest expenditure of $6,500 (section DG 13(7)–(9)). The formula is $7,000 × ($65,000/$70,000) = $6,500.

“(i) is not a company, other than a company acting as a trustee; and “(ii) has a voting interest in company A; and “(iii) has interest expenditure for which they are allowed a deduction.

“Method of apportionment

“(3) The apportionment is made using the rules set out in section DG 13(2) to (10), treating the person as if they were the company.

a 50% share of the remaining net asset balance of $45,000. The formula is ($65,000 – $20,000) × 50% = $22,500. Since Thomas’s debt value is greater than his share of the net asset balance, he must apportion 11.25% of his total interest expenditure \( \text{(sections DG 14 and DG 13(7)–(9))} \). The formula is $22,500/200,000. Since Brent’s debt value is less than his share of the net asset balance, all of his interest expenditure must be apportioned \( \text{(sections DG 14 and DG 13(5))}. \)

The excess expenditure is quarantined and denied as a deduction for the income year. “When this section applies

“(1) This section applies when—

“(a) a person incurs expenditure for which they are allowed a deduction that is limited under section DG 8 or DG 11, as applicable, for an income year; and

“(b) the amount of income derived for the income year from the use of an asset, other than an amount of income derived from an associated person, is less than 2% of—

rating or its cost on acquisition (or its market value, if the transaction involves an associated person):

“(ii) for other property, the cost to the person.

“Quarantined amount

“(2) The amount of the person’s excess expenditure for the income year is calculated using the formula—expenditure – asset income.

“Definition of items in formula

“(3) In the formula,—

“(a) expenditure is the total of the following amounts:

“(i) the total amount of deductions that the person is allowed for the income year under sections DG 7, DG 8, and DG 11, as applicable and after any necessary apportionment; and

“(ii) an amount of the person that was quarantined under this section for an earlier income year and is not yet allocated to an income year:

“(b) asset income is the total amount of income derived for the income year from the use of the asset.

“No deduction for quarantined amount

“(4) The excess expenditure calculated under subsection (2) is quarantined or remains quarantined, as applicable, and denied as a deduction for the income year.

“Outstanding profit balance

“(5) If the amount of expenditure for the income year is less than the amount of income for the income year, the excess income is the outstanding profit balance for the income year to be used under section DG 18. If the amount of expenditure for the income year is equal to or more than the amount of income for the income year, the outstanding profit balance is treated as zero.

“Zero result

“(6) For the purposes of the formula in subsection (2), if the amount of income for the income year is greater than the amount of expenditure for the income year, the result of the formula is treated as zero.

Example
David has a city apartment with a rateable value of $300,000. He rents out the apartment and also uses it privately. He receives rent of $4,000 from non-associates, and $6,000 from associates. David’s total allowable expenditure, under sections DG 7, DG 8, and DG 11, is $15,000. Since David’s income from non-associates is less than 2% of the apartment’s rateable value, the excess expenditure of $5,000 is quarantined under section DG 16 and denied as a deduction. The amount quarantined may be allocated to a later income year under section DG 17.

“Defined in this Act: amount, asset, associated person, cost, deduction, income, income year, land, market value

“DG 17 Allocation of amounts quarantined under section DG 16

“When this section applies

“(1) This section applies for an income year (the current year) when—

“(a) a person has an amount of excess expenditure quarantined under section DG 16 for an income year before the current year; and

“(b) the income that the person derives from the use of the asset for the current year is more than the amount of their deductions under sections DG 7, DG 8, and DG 11, as applicable.

“Definition of items in formula

“(3) In the formula,—
“(a) asset income is the total amount of income derived for the current year from the use of the asset:

“(b) expenditure is the total amount of deductions that the person is allowed for the current year under sections DG 7, DG 8, and DG 11, as applicable and after any necessary apportionment.

Outstanding profit balance

“(4) If the lesser amount in subsection (2) is the quarantined amount referred to in subsection (2)(a), an outstanding profit balance arises of an amount that is the difference between the amount of income for the current year and the amount of expenditure for the current year, including the quarantined amount allocated to the current year. The outstanding profit balance is available for use under section DG 19.

Zero result

“(5) For the purposes of the formula in subsection (2), if the amount of expenditure for the current year is greater than the amount of income for the current year, the result of the formula is treated as zero.

In the following income year, David derives $10,000 from renting his city apartment. David’s total allowable expenditure, under sections DG 7, DG 8, and DG 11, is $8,000. He also has expenditure of $5,000 quarantined from the previous income year. David is able to deduct $2,000 of that quarantined expenditure. The remaining $3,000 continues to be quarantined and may be allowed as a deduction in a later income year under section DG 17.

Defined in this Act: amount, asset, deduction, income, income year

"DG 18 Quarantined expenditure: group companies and shareholders"

When this section applies

“(1) This section applies when—

“(a) a person incurs expenditure for an income year for which they are allowed a deduction that is limited under 1 or more of sections DG 12 to DG 14; and"
“(b) the income year is an income year in which section DG 16(1)(b) applies.

“How this section applies: first looping rule

“(2) The first application of this section is to every group company B in sequence until no other group companies exist to which this subsection applies.

“How this section applies: second looping rule

“(3) The second application of this section is sequentially to—

“(a) first, 1 or more of the following persons, none of which is a company referred to in subsection (2):

“(i) a person who is a shareholder in company A;

“(ii) a person who is a shareholder in a company that is a member of the same group of companies as company A and has a voting interest in company A;

“(b) secondly, a person who is a shareholder in a company referred to in paragraph (a); and “(c) so on, until no other persons exist to which this subsection applies.

“Quarantined amount

“(4) The amount of the person’s excess expenditure for the income year is calculated using the formula—expenditure – outstanding profit balance.

“Definition of items in formula

“(5) In the formula,—

“(a) expenditure is the total of the following amounts:

“(i) the total amount of deductions that the person is allowed for the income year under sections DG 12 to DG 14, as applicable and after any necessary apportionment; and

“(ii) an amount of the person that was quarantined under this section for an earlier income year and is not yet allocated to an income year:

“(b) outstanding profit balance,—

“(i) for company B, is the amount of the outstanding profit balance referred to in section DG 16(5):
“(ii) for a shareholder, is the amount that is the person’s share of the outstanding profit balance referred to in section DG 16(5), calculated using the formula in section DG 13(3), treating the outstanding profit balance as if it were the net asset balance.

“No deduction for quarantined amount

“(6) The excess expenditure calculated under subsection (4) is either quarantined or remains quarantined, as applicable, and is denied as a deduction for the income year.

“Recalculation of outstanding profit balance

“(7) For the purposes of subsections (4) and (5)(b), the amount that is the outstanding profit balance must be recalculated on each application, being reduced by an amount equal to the amount of any deduction counted.

“Zero result

“(8) For the purposes of the formula in subsection (4), if the amount of the outstanding profit balance for the income year is greater than the amount of expenditure for the income year, the result of the formula is treated as zero.

Example

Aircraft Ltd owns an aircraft to which the rules in this subpart apply. The income derived from the asset in the current year is less than 2% of the cost of the aircraft. The company has calculated an outstanding profit balance of $12,000 after the application of section DG 16(5). Aircraft is 100% owned by Parent Ltd, which has apportioned interest expenditure of $5,000 calculated under section DG 12. Parent has 2 equal shareholders, Alisa who has apportioned interest expenditure of $8,000, and Hamish who has apportioned interest expenditure of $1,000, both calculated under section DG 14. Parent must apply section DG 18 first, and is not required to quarantine any of its interest expenditure, as the outstanding profit balance is greater than its apportioned interest expenditure. The outstanding profit balance is reduced to $7,000 ($12,000 - $5,000) under section DG 18(7). Alisa’s and Hamish’s share of the outstanding profit balance is $3,500 each ($7,000 x 50%). Alisa must quarantine $4,500 of interest expenditure ($8,000 - $3,500); Hamish is not required to quarantine any interest expenditure, as his interest expenditure is less than his share of the outstanding profit balance.

“DG 19 Allocation of amounts quarantined under section DG 18

“When this section applies

“(1) This section applies for an income year (the current year) when—

“(a) a person has an amount of excess expenditure quarantined under section DG 18 for an income year before the current year; and

“(b) an outstanding profit balance referred to in section DG 17(4) is available for use for the current year.

“How this section applies

“(2) This section applies sequentially in the order set out in section DG 18(2) and (3) until the outstanding profit balance is reduced to zero.

“Deduction and allocation

“(3) The amount of previously quarantined expenditure that the person is allowed as a deduction for the current year must not be more than the lesser of—

“(a) the quarantined amount referred to in subsection (1)(a):

“(b) the amount calculated using the formula—

\[ \text{outstanding profit balance} - \text{expenditure} \]

“Definition of items in formula

“(4) In the formula,—

“(a) outstanding profit balance,—

“(i) for company B, is the amount of the outstanding profit balance determined for the company for the current year under section DG 17(4):

“(ii) for a shareholder, is the amount that is the person’s share of the outstanding profit balance for the current year under section DG 17(4), calculated using the formula in section DG 13(3), treating the outstanding profit balance as if it were the net asset balance:

“(b) expenditure is the total amount of deductions that the person is allowed for the current year under sections DG 12 to DG 14, as applicable and after any necessary apportionment.

“Recalculation of outstanding profit balance

“(5) For the purposes of subsections (3) and (4)(a), the amount that is the outstanding profit balance must be recalculated on each application, being reduced by an amount equal to the amount of any deduction for quarantined expenditure counted.

“Zero result

“(6) For the purposes of the formula in subsection (3), if the amount of expenditure for the current year is greater than the amount of the outstanding profit balance for the current year, the result of the formula is treated as zero.

Example, continued

In the following income year, Aircraft has calculated an outstanding profit balance of $16,000 after the application of section DG 17. Section DG 19 does not apply to Parent or Hamish because they have no previously quarantined interest expenditure. However, section DG 19 does apply to Alisa because she has $4,500 of quarantined interest expenditure from the previous year. Alisa’s current year apportioned interest expenditure is $7,000, calculated under section DG 14. Her share of the outstanding profit balance is $8,000 ($16,000 x 50%). Alisa is allowed a deduction of $1,000 of previously quarantined expenditure ($8,000 - $7,000). Her remaining quarantined expenditure is $3,500 ($4,500 - $1,000).

“Certain modifications to rules

“DG 20 When income cannot be separately attributed

“Exclusion from rules

“(1) Sections DG 16 and DG 18 do not apply to the use of an asset for an income year when—
“(a) the person derives an amount of income for the income year from the use of the asset in a business activity; and “(b) because of the nature of the activity, an amount cannot be separately attributed to the use of the asset.

“Re-inclusion
“(2) Subsection (1) does not apply if—
“(a) the person also uses the asset in deriving an amount of income that is separately attributable to the use of the asset; and “(b) the use of the asset referred to in paragraph (a) is at least 80% of the total use of the asset both in the business activity as described in subsection (1) and as described in paragraph (a).

Example
Paul uses a helicopter on his farm to check stock for 50 hours over the period of an income year, rents it out for 50 hours, and also uses it privately. While the amount of income is clear, the income Paul derives from using the helicopter in farming operations is not. The use of the helicopter meets the requirements for exclusion under section DG 20(1), and does not meet the requirements for re-inclusion under section DG 20(2) as the time spent using the helicopter to earn rental income is only 50% of the total time that the helicopter is used to earn income. Any loss attributable to the helicopter is not quarantined.

“Defined in this Act: amount, asset, business, income, income year

“DG 21 Opting out of treatment under this subpart

“Opt-out threshold
“(1) If the amount of income derived for an income year from the use of an asset is less than $1,000, the person who has the asset may choose to treat the income as exempt income under section CW 8B (Certain amounts derived from use of assets).

“Quarantined expenditure
“(2) If, in relation to the use of an asset in an income year, the person has an amount of quarantined expenditure for the income year, they may choose to treat the amount of income derived that gives rise to the quarantined expenditure as exempt income under section CW 8B for the income year.
“Consequences of opting out

“(3) When a person who holds an asset chooses under subsection (1) or (2) to treat the income derived from the use of the asset as exempt income, any interest expenditure that must be apportioned under section DG 9 is treated as expenditure incurred in deriving exempt income.

“Defined in this Act: amount, asset, exempt income, income, income year, interest expenditure

“DG 22 Application of rules to part years

“When this section applies

“(1) This section applies when the total income-earning use, private use, and non-use of an asset of a person relates to only part of an income year.

“Non-use period

“(2) For the purposes of section DG 3(1)(c), the number of days is calculated using the formula—

\frac{\text{days}}{365} \times 62.

“When assets acquired during year: debt value

“(3) For the purposes of section DG 11(8)(b), if the company acquires the asset during the income year, the debt value is treated as the outstanding amount at the end of the income year.

“When assets disposed of during year: debt value

“(4) For the purposes of section DG 11(8)(b), if the company disposes of the asset during the income year, the debt value is treated as the outstanding amount at the start of the income year.

“When assets acquired during year: interest expenditure

“(5) For the purposes of sections DG 11 to DG 14, when company A acquires an asset during an income year, the amount of interest expenditure that must be apportioned is calculated on a pro rata basis.
“Ring-fenced losses in part years
“(6) For the purposes of section DG 16(1)(b), the threshold is calculated using the formula—
\frac{\text{days}}{365} \times 2\%.

After section EC 4, insert:
"EC 4B Compulsory use of herd scheme method for associated persons"

"When this section applies"

“(1) This section applies if, in an income year (the current year), a person (the transferor) disposes of livestock of a type for which they use the herd scheme (the transfer) to an associated person (the transferee), and the transfer is not in the ordinary course of business.

"When this section does not apply"

“(2) This section does not apply to the transfer of livestock if,—

“(a) the transferor and the transferee would not be associated if the transferee or an associate were not the descendants in relation to the transferor or an associate of the transferor; and

“(b) for the transferor and associates of the transferor, but excluding their descended associates,—

“(i) all of their specified livestock in the income year of the transfer have been disposed of; and “(ii) they do not derive income from the disposal of specified livestock after the current year.

"Compulsory use of herd scheme method"

“(3) Despite sections EC 7(2), EC 12(1), EC 22(1), and EC 25(1), the transferee is treated as choosing and giving a notice of election, with application beginning for the current year, to use the herd scheme for a type of livestock, if the formula in subsection (4) calculates zero or a positive amount for a class in the type of livestock.

"A definition and a formula"

“(4) The formula, for the purposes of subsections (1) and (3), is—

“(i) the number of animals in the current year that the person would have of a class (the relevant class), adding back animals in all transfers described in subsection (1) that this section would apply to:

“(ii) the number of animals of the relevant class that the person valued under the herd scheme at the end of the year before the current year:

“(b) minimum herd scheme amount is the number of animals of the relevant class that the person has in the current year.

“Definitions

“(6) In this section,—

“(b) descended associate means an associate of the transferor that would not be associated if they or another associate were not descendants in relation to the transferor or an associate of the transferor.

“EM 3 What hedges does this subpart apply to?

This subpart applies to a person’s hedge (an eligible hedge) if section EM 1 applies to the hedge, and the hedge—

“(a) is a contract to conditionally or unconditionally acquire or dispose of foreign exchange in return for New Zealand currency, or is a swap with one leg denominated in a foreign currency and the other leg denominated in New Zealand currency; and

“(b) is not an option; and “(c) is not entered into with an associated person; and “(d) has, under IFRSs, a fair value of zero when it is first entered into; and “(e) is subject to an election under section EM 4.

“Defined in this Act: associated person, eligible hedge, hedge, IFRS “EM 4 Irrevocable elections

“Elections

“(1) This subpart applies to a person’s eligible hedge, to the extent of their fair dividend rate hedge portion for the eligible hedge, if the person has made an election to apply this subpart to the eligible hedge when the hedge is first entered into.

“Elections: effect irrevocable

“(2) An election under this section is irrevocable and cannot be amended. The income and expenditure for the fair dividend rate hedge portion of the relevant hedge must be determined under this subpart.

“Elections: effect on some or all

“(3) The portion of a person’s eligible hedge that is not a fair dividend rate hedge portion does not give rise to income and expenditure under this subpart, despite an election for the eligible hedge, and subpart EW (Financial arrangements rules) determines a person’s income and expenditure for that portion.

“EM 5 Fair dividend rate hedge portions

“Maximum calculated

“(1) This section calculates the maximum fair dividend rate hedge portion for a person’s eligible hedge.

“Choice of fair dividend rate hedge portion

“(2) A person must, subject to the maximum calculated under this section, choose the fair dividend rate hedge portion for a person’s eligible hedge when the hedge is first entered into. The person’s choice of fair dividend rate hedge portion for an eligible hedge is irrevocable, and cannot be amended.

“Choice of formulas

“(3) A person may choose to use either subsections (4) and (5), or subsections (6) to (10), to calculate the maximum fair dividend rate hedge portions for all of the person’s eligible hedges when the hedge is first entered into. They may not choose to use, for example, subsection (4) for some hedges and subsection (6) for other hedges.
“First formula

“(4) The maximum fair dividend rate hedge portion for a person’s eligible hedge (the calculation hedge) is the lesser of 100% and the amount, expressed as a percentage, calculated, using the formula in this subsection, when the hedge is first entered into. The formula is—

\[ 1.05 \times (\text{eligible currency assets} + \text{proxied currency assets}) - \text{FDR hedges amount} \] calculation hedge amount.

“Definition of items in formula

“(5) In the formula in subsection (4), all items are expressed in the calculation currency (see: eligible currency assets), and—

“(a) eligible currency assets is the total market value of a person’s assets described in section EM 1(1)(a) and (b) that are denominated in the same currency (the calculation currency) that the calculation hedge hedges:

“(b) proxied currency assets is,—

“(i) unless subparagraph (ii) or (iii) applies, the total market value of a person’s assets described in section EM 1(1)(a) and (b) that are denominated in a currency (the proxied currency) other than the calculation currency, if an eligible hedge that is denominated in the calculation currency acts like hedging for the assets due to a relationship between exchange rate movements in the proxied currency and the calculation currency:

“(ii) zero, if the person has hedges denominated in the proxy currency:

“(iii) zero, if the person has a hedge, denominated in a currency other than the proxied currency or the calculation currency, that acts like hedging for the assets due to a relationship between exchange rate movements in the proxied currency and that other currency:

“(c) FDR hedges amount is the amount of calculation currency hedged by a person’s fair dividend rate hedge portions, but excluding the portion for the calculation hedge:

“(d) calculation hedge amount is the amount of foreign currency that is hedged by the calculation hedge.

“Second formula

“(6) The maximum fair dividend rate hedge portion for a person’s eligible hedge (the calculation hedge) is the amount, expressed as a percentage, calculated using the formula in this subsection when the hedge is first entered into. Subsections (8) to (10) override this formula. The formula is—

\text{non-eligible currency assets} = \frac{1}{1 - \text{hedges amount}}

“Definition of items in formula

“(7) In the formula in subsection (6), all items are expressed in New Zealand currency, and—

“(a) non-eligible currency assets is the total market value of a person’s assets that:

“(i) are denominated in a foreign currency; and

“(ii) are not described in section EM 1(1)(a) and (b):

“(b) hedges amount is the amount of foreign currency that is hedged by a person’s hedges including the calculation hedge.

“Exception for more than 100% non-eligible currency asset hedges

“(8) If the maximum fair dividend rate hedge portion for the calculation hedge is less than zero, then the fair dividend rate hedge portion for the hedge is zero.

“Exception for over-hedging

“(9) If the amount calculated using the formula in this subsection is greater than 1.05, then the fair dividend rate hedge portion for the calculation hedge is zero. The formula is—

\text{currency assets} = \frac{1}{\text{hedges amount}}
“Definition of items in formula
“(10) In the formula in subsection (9), all items are expressed in New Zealand currency, and—
“(a) currency assets is the total market value of a person’s assets that are denominated in a foreign currency:
“(b) hedges amount is the amount of foreign currency that is hedged by a person’s hedges including the calculation hedge.

“Relationship with subject matter
“(11) Section EM 7 overrides this section.

“EM 6 Income and expenditure for fair dividend rate hedge portions
“Using the formula to calculate income and expenditure
“(1) A person uses the formula in subsection (2) on each day that this subpart applies to them. A positive amount from the formula is a person’s income for their fair dividend rate hedge portions. A negative amount from the formula is a person’s expenditure for their fair dividend rate hedge portions.

“Formula
“(2) The formula for determining a person’s income and expenditure for their fair dividend rate hedge portions is—

\text{FDR portions’ value} \times 0.05 \\
\text{days in the year.}
\]

“Definition of items in formula
“(3) In the formula,—
“(a) FDR portions’ value is the market value, in New Zealand currency, on the relevant day, of a person’s fair dividend rate hedge portions:
“(b) days in the year is the number of days in the income year in which the relevant day falls.

“Defined in this Act: amount, fair dividend rate hedge portion, income, income year

55
“EM 7 Quarterly test of fair dividend rate hedge portions “(1) A person must use the first formula, in subsection (2), on the last day of a quarter of an income year, to calculate their quarterly FDR hedging ratio.

“First formula
“(2) The formula for calculating the person’s quarterly FDR hedg-ing ratio is—

\frac{\text{FDR hedges amount}}{\text{eligible currency assets}}
\]

“Definition of items in formula

New Zealand currency, and—

“(a) \text{FDR hedges amount} is the total amount of foreign currency that is hedged by a person’s fair dividend rate hedge portions:

“(b) \text{eligible currency assets} is the total market value of a person’s assets described in section EM 1(1)(a) and (b).

“Second formula
“(4) If a person’s quarterly FDR hedging ratio for a quarter is greater than 1.05 and subsection (6) does not apply, then, despite section EM 5, the fair dividend rate hedge portion of each eligible hedge, from 5 days after the last day of the quarter, is calculated using the formula—

0.85 \times \frac{\text{quarterly FDR hedging ratio}}{\text{FDR hedge portion}}
\]

“Definition of items in second formula
“(5) In the formula in subsection (4),—

“(a) \text{FDR hedge portion} is the fair dividend rate hedge portion of the relevant eligible hedge:

“(b) \text{quarterly FDR hedging ratio} is the person’s quarterly
FDR hedging ratio for the relevant quarter.
“Subpart not applied for over-hedging

“(6) If a person’s quarterly FDR hedging ratio is greater than 1.05 on the last day of two consecutive quarters of an income year (the over-hedged year), then this subpart will not apply to the person for the remaining quarters of the over-hedged year and the income year after the over-hedged year.
