

Student Loan Scheme Amendment Bill (No 2)

Government Bill

Explanatory note

General policy statement

The Bill is designed to remove barriers to student loan borrowers living overseas returning to New Zealand and to ensure that borrowers are given their correct entitlements and obligations under the Act.

By introducing a data match between Inland Revenue and the New Zealand Customs Service, the Bill will help to ensure that only those borrowers entitled to interest-free student loans receive them. Interest-free loans were introduced in 2006 to encourage borrowers to return to, or remain in, New Zealand. Information obtained from the data match will also be used to determine which repayment rules borrowers are subject to.

The Bill removes barriers to borrowers returning to New Zealand by—

- extending the amnesty on student loan penalties; and
- introducing fairer repayment rules for borrowers living overseas.

An amnesty on penalties is due to end on 31 March 2007. The amnesty allows non-resident borrowers in arrears the opportunity of a fresh start by having their penalties cancelled. The Bill extends the amnesty to 31 March 2008.

The existing repayment obligations for borrowers living overseas are unaffordable for many. Compliance is low and the rules are creating disincentives for borrowers to return to New Zealand. The Bill seeks to address this by introducing a 3-year repayment holiday for borrowers living overseas with fairer, progressive repayment obligations, depending on the size of borrowers' loan balances, when the holiday ends.

A repayment holiday ensures that the loan balances of those going overseas short-term will not increase at a punitive rate. The holiday recognises the New Zealand tradition of taking OEs; it may be unrealistic to expect borrowers to make repayments while they are travelling and doing holiday jobs. If borrowers do not use the full 3-year period, they will be entitled to use the remaining period the next time they go overseas.

The Bill also—

- gives the Commissioner the ability to grant borrowers studying full-time overseas at undergraduate level an interest-free loan;
- reduces the penalty rate, so as to be less punitive when borrowers fail to meet their obligations;
- removes interest write-offs for borrowers ineligible for interest-free loans;
- ensures that interest write-offs that have been incorrectly given are not required to be reversed in cases where borrowers have repaid their loans;
- alters the hardship provisions so that they do not preclude borrowers being given hardship relief in respect of payments made and so that the Commissioner has a discretion to remove the obligation to make repayments during the year if payment would cause hardship;
- removes the possibility of an overdue amount being subject to both interest and penalties.

The Bill also makes a number of minor, technical amendments.

Clause by clause analysis

Clause 1 states the Bill's Title.

Clause 2 provides for the Bill's commencement. Various clauses of the Bill come into force on 1 April 2007, 1 October 2007, and 1 April 2008. The rest of the Bill comes into force on the day after the date on which it receives the Royal assent.

Part 1 Amendments to principal Act

Clause 3 states that Part 1 amends the Student Loan Scheme Act 1992.

Clause 4 makes a number of amendments to the interpretation section of the principal Act. In particular, for most purposes in the Act, the concept of a borrower being resident or non-resident is changed to one of a borrower being New Zealand based or overseas based.

Clause 5 amends the heading to Part 2 of the principal Act.

Clause 6 makes consequential amendments to section 14 of the principal Act.

Clause 7 inserts a new section 14A that requires borrowers who, for the purposes of the principal Act, are New Zealand based but not resident, to provide the Commissioner with details of their worldwide income (except New Zealand sourced income).

Clause 8 makes consequential amendments to section 15 which are required due to the insertion of new section 14A.

Clause 9 repeals Part 3 of the principal Act and substitutes a new Part 3.

New Part 3, consisting of new sections 31 to 36A, sets out the repayment obligations for borrowers who are overseas based. The general rule is that all borrowers who become overseas based after 1 April 2007 are entitled to a repayment holiday for a maximum period of 3 years. A repayment holiday is a period during which a borrower's overseas based repayment obligation is reduced to zero. A repayment holiday may be taken in 1 or more periods, and a borrower may choose, by giving notice to the Commissioner, not to take a repayment holiday for any period he or she is overseas based (new section 33). Any 1 borrower is only entitled to 1 3-year repayment holiday over that borrower's lifetime.

New section 34 sets out the repayment obligations of a borrower who is overseas based and either no longer entitled to a repayment holiday or has chosen not to have a repayment holiday. Overseas based repayment obligations are calculated based on the size of a borrower's loan balance, and are payable in instalments due on 30 September and 31 March each tax year.

New sections 34 and 36 also prescribe the repayment obligations of a borrower who is overseas based for part of a tax year.

A number of transitional provisions govern the application of the repayment holiday entitlement to borrowers who are already overseas based on 1 April 2007. These transitional provisions are set out in new Part 9, which is added to the principal Act by clause 35.

Section 37 of the principal Act specifies that a borrower must advise the Commissioner if the borrower will be absent from New Zealand for a period of more than 3 months. Clause 10 amends this time period to 6 months, which reflects the requirements of the interest free provision set out in sections 38AA to 33AK.

Clauses 11 and 12 insert a condition that applies to the charitable organisation exemption under section 38AE(1)(b) (which allows a borrower to be interest free if that borrower is absent from New Zealand because he or she is working as a volunteer overseas for a charitable organisation). The condition is that a borrower who applies for this exemption must provide the Commissioner with details of his or her world-wide income under new section 14A.

Clause 13 makes a technical amendment to section 38AH(c) of the principal Act. Clause 13(2) specifies to whom this change is to apply and from when.

Clause 14 has the same effect as clauses 11 and 12, but applies to borrowers undertaking study overseas, as set out in section 38AJ. Section 38AJ is also amended so that, instead of being limited to borrowers who are undertaking post-graduate study overseas, from 1 April 2007 it will apply to borrowers undertaking either post-graduate or under-graduate study overseas.

Clause 15 inserts a new section 38AL in the principal Act. New section 38AL gives the Commissioner a discretion to reduce the amount of interest chargeable on specified borrowers' loan balances to zero. This discretion is inserted to ensure that a borrower who first receives a student loan after 1 April 2006 and is absent from New Zealand within 182 days after the date of obtaining the loan is not disadvantaged by this.

Clause 16 repeals sections 38A to 41 of the principal Act, which concern full interest write-offs and base interest write-offs for certain borrowers. These provisions have been superceded by the amendments in this Bill.

Clause 17 amends the late payment penalty interest rate in section 44 of the principal Act from 2% to 1.5%. A number of consequential amendments are also made to section 44.

Clause 18 inserts a new section 44B. This section is inserted in order to make it clear that if a borrower is liable to pay a penalty on any part of his or her loan balance, then no interest can be charged on that portion of the borrower's loan balance.

Clause 19 repeals the old amnesty provisions in sections 45A to 45D of the principal Act. A new amnesty is added to the principal Act as new Part 8 by clause 35.

Section 51 of the principal Act gives the Commissioner the power to refrain from collecting or refunding amounts that are $5 or less. Clause 20 increases this amount to $20.

Clause 21 broadens the manner in which a borrower may apply to the Commissioner for relief from a penalty. A borrower currently has to apply in writing. Clause 21 will enable a borrower to apply to the Commissioner in writing, by telephone, or in any other manner acceptable to the Commissioner. However, the Commissioner may still require an application to be in writing.

Clauses 22 and 23 repeal the current hardship relief provisions in sections 54 and 55 and substitute a new hardship relief regime in new sections 54 to 55D.

New section 54 allows the Commissioner to refrain from collecting payment of a repayment obligation if it is less than $250.

New sections 55 to 55C expand the current hardship relief regime, permitting an applicant to apply for hardship relief for the current tax year, or for the next tax year. Accordingly, the Commissioner has the discretion to remove the obligation to make repayments during a tax year if payment would cause serious hardship, and payments that have been made can be refunded.

New section 55D requires a borrower who has applied for hardship relief to inform the Commissioner if there is a change in the borrower's circumstances.

Clause 24 makes consequential amendments to section 57.

Clause 25 amends section 58A so that it applies to any tax year, rather than just to the tax year ending on 31 March 2006. Section 58A concerns the ability of a borrower to get a refund if a repayment obligation has been paid in excess of the amount properly payable due to an incorrect repayment obligation assessment.

Section 60 writes off borrowers' loan balances in certain specified situations. One of these is if the loan balance is less than $10. Clause 26 increases this amount to $20.

Clause 27 repeals certain provisions of section 62, which concern the disclosure of information. These changes are made as a result of the changes made in clause 28.

Clause 28 inserts new sections 62A and 62B in the principal Act. New section 62A permits the release of certain specified information about certain borrowers to the New Zealand Customs Service for the purpose of establishing an information matching programme. This programme is being established to assist the Commissioner to verify borrowers' entitlements and obligations under the principal Act.

New clause 62B authorises the Commissioner to access any information recording system used by the New Zealand Customs Service to store arrival or departure information.

The amendments in clause 28 correspond to amendments made to the Customs and Excise Act 1996 by clause 36.

Clause 29 adds a new paragraph to section 65A of the principal Act, allowing a borrower to challenge a decision of the Commissioner not to reduce the amount of interest calculated on a borrower's loan balance under new section 38AL. This amendment is related to the amendment in clause 15.

Clause 30 repeals section 66A, which concerns the old amnesty provisions which in turn are repealed by clause 19.

Clause 31 amends the Part 7 heading so that it better reflects the contents of Part 7, as a result of clauses 33 and 34.

Clause 32 amends the regulation-making power in section 87 of the principal Act to align this section with other amendments made to the Act by this Bill.

Clause 33 inserts new section 88 which validates certain matters in relation to full interest write-offs, base interest write-offs, and interest reductions provided to borrowers under sections 38A to 41. Those sections are repealed by clause 16.

Clause 34 repeals some sections that are now spent and removes some cross-headings that were not previously repealed when the sections they related to were repealed.

Clause 35 adds new Parts 8 and 9 to the principal Act.

The main purposes of new Part 8 are to—

- ensure that borrowers who were non-resident at some time in the past but who have returned to New Zealand do not have any new non-resident liability established; and

- protect loans that have been repaid by 14 November 2006 from being reopened, if a borrower was non-resident at some time in the past but did not have a non-resident liability established; and
- give other non-resident borrowers the chance of a fresh start by extending the current amnesty.

New section 89 is an interpretation section, defining terms that are used in new Part 8.

New section 90 provides that the Commissioner is not obliged to issue any new non-resident repayment obligation for any period prior to 1 April 2007.

New section 91 applies to a borrower who was non-resident on 31 March 2006 and in arrears in respect of his or her repayment obligations as at 1 April 2007. This section provides that, in relation to a borrower to whom the section applies,—

- any repayment obligation (resident or non-resident) that was not paid on 1 April 2007 is cancelled; and
- any penalties charged under section 44 are cancelled.

The above happens whether or not an application for the amnesty is made and whether or not the conditions of the amnesty are met.

New sections 92 to 105 provide a new, extended amnesty. The amnesty applies only to a borrower who was non-resident on 31 March 2006 and in arrears in respect of his or her repayment obligations as at that date. However, the amnesty does not apply to a borrower whose loan balance was zero or less on 13 November 2006.

The new amnesty gives a borrower a choice to either—

- apply for the amnesty in accordance with new section 93; or
- have their loan balances increased by an extra amount in accordance with new section 103.

Borrowers who apply for the amnesty must meet amnesty payment conditions in new sections 94 to 97 and 100. Borrowers who are under the old amnesty are grandfathered on to the new amnesty, and must meet a corresponding payment condition, with credit given for the amnesty payments already made under the old amnesty. However, if an application for the amnesty is not made (or the amounts required are not paid in full by the due dates), new section 103 applies and the loan balance is increased by the lesser of 5% of the loan balance or the late payment penalties charged, or that would have been charged, under section 44.

New Part 9 inserts a series of transitional provisions.

New sections 106 to 111 set out the transitional provisions in relation to the repayment holiday entitlements for borrowers who are overseas based on 1 April 2007. These transitional provisions tie in to new sections 31 to 36A inserted by clause 9. The basic rule is that all borrowers are entitled to a full 3-year repayment holiday. However, if a borrower is in breach of any of his or her repayment obligations, there are restrictions on when that borrower is entitled to use the repayment holiday. In particular, a borrower may have to meet certain conditions before being able to use all of the 3-year repayment holiday that he or she is entitled to.

New section 112 replicates section 102 of the principal Act, which is repealed along with a number of obsolete headings and provisions by clause 33 in order to provide greater clarity.

Part 2 Amendments to other Acts

Clause 36 amends the Customs and Excise Act 1996 by inserting new sections 280G to 280I. These new sections mirror the intentions of new sections 62A and 62B of the Student Loan Scheme Act 1992, as inserted by clause 28. However, in this case, new sections 280G to 280I prescribe the requirements for the data match for the New Zealand Customs Service and empower Customs to take the required or necessary actions.

Clauses 37, 38, and 39 make consequential amendments to the Education Act 1989, the Privacy Act 1993, and the Tax Administration Act 1994. These amendments are required as a result of the new data matching process established between the Inland Revenue Department and the Customs Service by new sections 62A and 62B of the Student Loan Scheme Act 1992 and new sections 280G to 280I of the Customs and Excise Act 1996.

Clause 40 makes a consequential amendment to the Student Loan Scheme (Interest Rates Formulas) Regulations 2006.

“89 Interpretation

In this Part, unless the context otherwise requires,—

“amnesty application date, in respect of a borrower, means the date on which the Commissioner receives an amnesty application from the borrower under section 93(1)(a)(i)

10

“amnesty condition means the conditions set out in sections 94 to 97 and 100, as applicable

“late payment penalties—

“(a) means any penalty that was charged under section 44 (despite being cancelled under section 91); and

“(b) includes any penalty that would have been charged under section 44 if section 90 had not been enacted

“non-resident repayment obligation means a repayment obligation assessed under Part 3 before that Part was repealed and substituted with a new Part 3 by section 9 of the Student Loan Scheme Amendment Act (No 2) 2006

20

“off-set means to apply towards, and not necessarily to eliminate (for example, if a person has already made repayment deductions of $400, and this Part provides that an amnesty payment obligation of $500 may be off-set against those repayment deductions, $100 is left to pay)

25

“old amnesty means the amnesty provided under sections 45A to 45D before their repeal by section 19 of the Student Loan Scheme Amendment Act (No 2) 2006

“old repayment obligation means every repayment obligation that was assessed by the Commissioner in respect of a period before 1 April 2007, or that should have been assessed by the Commissioner in respect of any such period if section 90 had not been enacted (whether a non-resident repayment obligation or a resident repayment obligation)

30

“resident repayment obligation means a repayment obligation assessed under Part 2 before that Part was amended by the Student Loan Scheme Amendment Act (No 2) 2006.

35

*“Clean start for certain non-resident borrowers“90 No need to issue non-resident repayment obligations for period before 1 April 2007

The Commissioner is not obliged to issue any new non-resident repayment obligation in respect of any period before 1 April 2007.

“91 Penalties cancelled, and interest imposed, for certain non-resident borrowers

“(1) This section applies to a borrower who was—

“(a) non-resident on 31 March 2006; and

“(b) in arrears in respect of all or part of an old repayment obligation as at 1 April 2007.

“(2) All old repayment obligations and all associated penalties of a borrower to whom this section applies are reduced to zero, to the extent that the old repayment obligations or the associated penalties are unpaid as at 1 April 2007.

“(3) The amount that was to be paid in respect of the old repayment obligations is subject to interest from the date that the old repayment obligations were (or would have been) originally due at the total interest rate that applied over the period of non-payment of those obligations on the daily amount outstanding.

20

“(4) For the avoidance of doubt, the amount that was to be paid in respect of the old repayment obligations remains part of the borrower’s loan balance, and that loan balance remains outstanding and due for repayment in accordance with subsequent repayment obligations assessed by the Commissioner.

25

ExamplesExample 1: Lenore

Lenore has a loan balance on 1 April 2005 of $15,000. Lenore was issued with non-resident assessments of $1,997 for the 2005–06 tax year and $1,919 for the 2006–07 tax year, which she has failed to pay. The 2005–06 assessment ceased to be subject to standard interest (7% for the 2005–06 tax year) and instead became subject to compounding late payment penalties of 2% per month from 1 April 2006. The 2006–07 assessment ceased to become subject to standard interest (6.9% for the 2006–07 tax year) 1 year later on 1 April 2007. Her total late payment penalties on 31 March 2007 are $536 and her loan balance is $17,555.

On 1 April 2007 her overdue debt is zero and her loan balance is reduced by $398 (penalties of $536 less interest of $138 charged in place of penalties) to $17,157.

35

Example 2: Keith

Keith left New Zealand on 31 March 2005 with a loan balance of $20,000. The Commissioner was not aware that Keith was a non-resident and therefore did not issue non-resident assessments while Keith was overseas. On 1 April 2007 the Commissioner becomes aware that Keith is a non-resident and has been since 1 April 2005. The Commissioner is not required to make non-resident repayment obligation assessments for tax years prior to 1 April 2007. Keith has not made any repayments while overseas and his loan balance is $22,877 on 1 April 2007, including compounding interest.
